BIOGRAPHY

fahbro

Fabrizio Fiorilli, known as fahbro, is an Italian artist, producer, and cultural visionary. His love for Black Music was ignited by his brother Viktor, setting him on a path that would eventually reshape his identity and artistic mission.

In 2010, Fabrizio co-founded the collective PSALM, building a creative home for roots, reggae, and African sound. Over the years, landmark collaborations with Macka B, Paolo Baldini, and DJ Lugi cemented his place in the international scene — culminating in the global resonance of "Addis Zemen".

Today, fahbro bridges continents and spiritual traditions through sound — every release a deliberate, evolving act of devotion.

Timeline & Milestones

PHILOSOPHY

One Release. Every Year. Always Growing.

fahbro operates by a singular creative philosophy: one release per year, each one a step forward — never lateral, never backward. Music is not content. It is a cultural and social statement, conceived with intention and released with purpose.

Every record is a mirror held up to the world — a question asked with sound, and an answer forged in rhythm.

Key Collaborations

Macka B

UK reggae icon — a collaboration bridging African diaspora narratives across generations

Paolo Baldini

Italian dub visionary — shared sonic architecture rooted in roots and conscious sound

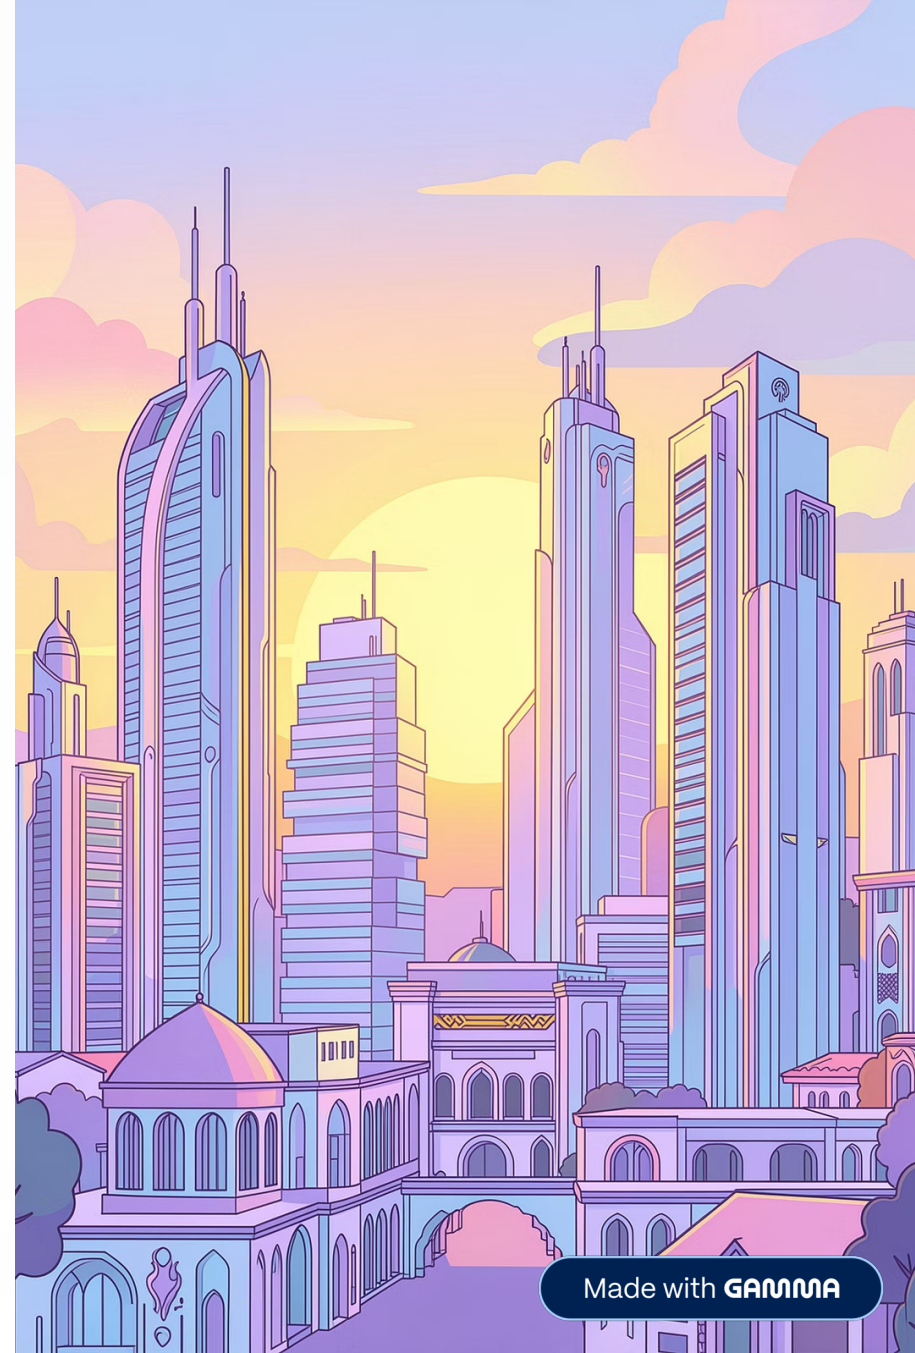

DJ Lugi

Global Breakthrough: Addis Zemen

"Addis Zemen" — meaning New Era in Amharic — became fahbro's defining international statement. Rooted in the spiritual and political legacy of Ethiopia, the track resonated across continents, cementing his reputation as a voice where African heritage meets contemporary consciousness.
